Assessing the impact of nonverbal communication cues in online teaching

Maria Osipenko, Kathrin Heller

1 Introduction

1.1 Research question

Do different usage patterns of nonverbal communication cues of course instructor as colors, markers, paintings have impact on learning success in online format?

For previous research see Ng and Przybylek (2021), Dixson et al. (2016), Cheng et al. (2014), and Tawil (2019).

1.2 Retrospective feature extraction

We extract features retrospectively from lecture notes of three semesters and two courses on statistics.
